

Plans for the Future

I often get emails notifying me that someone has made over their web site or their accounting statement. In the past, car makers came out with a new model every year, now they may wait several years before introducing a new model with any significant changes.

We have made some changes over the years, we have added some new features, but we have kept a consistent look and feel for our products. Most important to us is that we have always tried to make sure that our products are easy to use and that we make learning easier. We hope that our users appreciate that. When you have something that was done right the first time, why start over.

Looking forward, we do have some projects coming up that will hopefully help our users. Here are some of the things that we are working on or will work on in the near future:

1. Converting our courses to HTML5. We will continue to convert our courses into HTML5 so they can be used on iOS and Android devices. We are currently working on Phonics 1b and we should be testing soon. With our system, those who use our courses on a computer with a Flash browser will continue to use the Flash version (which currently is faster to load). Those who do not have a Flash browser will automatically switch to the HTML5 version.
2. In the near future, we plan to develop an app for iOS and Android that will launch our online courses. This is to make it easier to use our courses from mobile devices.
3. We plan to add a new course that only teachers will see. The new course will be called "Teacher Resources". The purpose of this course will be to better explain the many optional features and resources that we have available to teachers. This will include written and video tutorials of our "teacher features", quick video tours of our courses, sample parent letters and easier access to our "Users' Guides and Lesson Plans.
4. We will work with Super Star Phonics, Inc. to offer grants to teachers and schools.
5. We plan to bring the pre-test and post-test reports up to the site level to make them easier to access.

As always, we appreciate any comments or suggestions you might have.
